

I don't want my internet to be wiretapped. I don't do anything wrong but that fact that someone can read my private conversations with girls and friends is just disturbing. No one has any business knowing that. Also I fear that such snooping will allow the government to black list people based on their political views. Recent news about Ashcroft sueing Greenpeace shows that the current U.S. government is belligerent towards anyone who isn't on the far-right.
